Claims Against Russia Will Be Pressed By Great Britain

London.—Premier Lloyd George stated in the House of Commons that if the Russian Government plainly announced its intention to pursue the policy foreshadowed by the Hague Conference and pronounced in the utterances of the Russian delegation, the British Government would do its utmost to assist British Nationals to enter into negotiation with the Russian Government to recover compensation for private property. The Premier added that the extension of the export trade and credit to Russia would follow in due course in that event.

Vicecount Astor asked Mr. Lloyd George whether the Government intended to appoint a woman as delegate, alternative delegate, or technical adviser to the assembly of the League of Nations. The Premier replied that the Government had decided to appoint a part of the House and H. A. L. Fisher, President of the Board of Education, as British representatives to the next meeting. He said he was not in a position to announce the third representative, but would consider the suggestion of the Vicecount. In answer to another question, the Premier said that the conference to be held in London on the subject of German reparations was postponed owing to the ministerial crisis in Italy.

Plenty of Work

For Harvesters

Cheap Railway Fares Granted by all Railways

Victoria.—There will be work for all British Columbia unemployed in the harvest fields of the prairie provinces. It was announced by the Labor Bureau, Alberta, in Calgary, last week, according to word from J. H. McVie, Superintendent of British Columbia Labor Bureau, who has been sent to the prairie to get exact information on labor needs. Cheap railroad fares granted last year will be in effect on all railroads this season. Instructions were sent out to labor officers to start at once to register men for the prairie.

Winipeg.—Seven hundred jobs for farm help at the rate of $2.50 a day, with prospects of an increase to $3.00 at harvest and $4.00 at threshing time, are awaiting men who will go to work on Manitoba farms says J. A. Bowman, Provincial Superintendent of the Employment Service of Canada.

Winipeg's unemployed meanwhile crowd the street outside of office but refuse to go out on the farm in the belief that higher wages will be paid, Mr. Bowman stated.

Germans Must Destroy Range Finding "School"

Buildings Established at Strategic Points on Kiel

Paris.—The Council of Ambassadors decided to send a sharp note to the German Government demanding the immediate destruction of the range finding school, which the German naval authorities have quietly established at strategic points on the Kiel Canal. Allied experts estimate has declared the school is convertible into a fort commanding the entrance to the canal.

Actual Removal Of The Cattle Embargo Only Matter Of Time

London.—The debate in the House of Lords indicates that the peers are inclined to regard the actual removal of the embargo against Canadian store cattle as only a matter of time and some strong advocates of the embargo manifested a disposition to accept the situation.

Proceedings were a continuance of the debate started on July 12, when Lord Chaplin presented a resolution urging the maintenance of the embargo and Lord Lincolnshire moved a resolution demanding the fulfillment of the pledge of 1917 that the embargo should be removed. The weight of the speech of July 12 was decidedly against any change of policy, but sentiment, it was shown, on the issue has undergone a remarkable change in the meantime.

After a considerable array of prominent peers had addressed the House, the Lord Lincolnshire amendment favoring unconditional removal of the embargo was voted down by

To Conserve Coal

Montreal.—It was announced at Grand Trunk Railway headquarters that a temporary reduction was to be made in the number of local trains operated on the system in Canada in order to conserve the reserve stocks of coal, which, owing to the continuance of the miners' strike in the United States, have fallen below normal. Principal main line trains will not be affected, and as far as possible only those whose removal will not act injuriously to commerce will be suspended.

For Improved Highways

Canada Spending Fifty Millions in Five-Year Period

Ottawa.—Fifty million dollars will have been spent on improving Canada's highways when the five-year period terminates in the fall of 1922, according to reports received by A. W. Campbell, Dominion Commissioner of Highways. Of this total, twenty millions will have been appropriated by the Dominion Government and the remainder by the different provinces.

Of the federal sum there is yet $300,000 to be taken up by the provinces.

Agreements have already been entered into by the province of Ontario calling for an expenditure of $100,000 by the end of 1922, of which sum five millions is the federal share. The New Brunswick Government have now all of their appropriation of three million under agreement, the Dominion Government contributing $1,500,000. A total of 1,525 miles of highways is on the program for improvement, Alberta, the last province to take part in the national highways scheme, has just filed for approval plans for roads improvement under the Canada Highways Act.

Now working under the general regulations provided by the act, and the work, however, the province is now being carried out in accordance with the uniform standard specifications.

Conference May Be Delayed

Washington.—Negotiations with financial representatives of Great Britain for funding of that country $5,000,000, 900 war debt to the U.S. scheduled to begin early in September, may be postponed until the latter part of the month, it has been indicated at the treasury.

Crop Failures in Germany

Berlin.—Owing to the great drought from May until the middle of July, the harvest is a complete failure in large areas in Western Germany, according to semi-official announcements.

Lord Ancaster, who represents the Board of Agriculture in the upper chamber, made it quite plain that he anticipated legislation ending the embargo and that he was only anxious that their removal of the embargo should be accompanied by certain safeguards.

"I recognize," said Lord Ancaster, "that the time is against us, and that we have to expect legislation later. I can only hope that if there is a reversal of our present policy the effect may not be as serious as some suppose."

Royal Family May Return to Bavaria

Socialists Protest Against Removal of Ban on Exiles

Berlin.—The Bavarian Government issued a decree intended to replace, so far as Bavaria is concerned, the legislation recently passed by the Reichstag for the defence of the republic. The decree omits the clauses in the Reichstag enactment relative to the establishment of a special tribunal, the competence of the German minister of the interior to prohibit meetings and suppress associations, and the competence of the Central Government to prohibit members of the former ruling house now living abroad from entering Germany. It also declines to allow non-Bavarian police to take independent official action in Bavaria.

The Socialist section of the Bavarian Landtag has issued a manifesto declaring every attempt to counteract the Reichstag legislation for the defence of the republic is an attack upon the political unity of the nation, while the Bavarian Government upon special rights in this connection has caused alarm in Northern Bavaria, as well as in Berlin.

Extend Rural Phones

Providing for Further Phone Construction in Rural Alberta

Edmonton.—Contracts for 1,100 miles rural telephone line construction have been awarded by the provincial telephone department, completing the second instalment of the government's programme for the 1922 season. The mileage represented by these contracts, six in number, will spread over all parts of Central and Southern Alberta, and the total expenditure involved will be about $125,000.

It is expected that the 1,100 miles of new lines will almost or entirely complete the work to be done this year in the way of rural telephone construction. Some 1,400 miles of similar construction had already been done on previous schemes, for which contracts were given in the early part of the season as the cost of which was about $150,000.

Deny Reports Of Syrian Revolt

Officials Say News of Rioting Was Greatly Exaggerated

Paris.—Reports received from Cairo by way of London of an attack on French troops in Syria, and serious rioting followed news of the confirmation of the French mandate for Syria are greatly exaggerated. It was declared in official circles here. Reports that the rioting bordered on revolt were denied.

Cairo.—The Syrian committee here announces that when news that the League of Nations Council had confirmed the French Syrian mandate was received in that country a band of Syrians attacked French troops at Saurin, killing two officers and 17 men, destroyed two tanks and captured a number of prisoners and a quantity of war material. The French reported they have been forced to retreat until reinforcements were hurried from Damascus.

The Syrians also are reported to have brought down a French airplane at Erah and to have attacked a French outpost at Javroul, killed 15 Frenchmen. The committee alleges that disorder has broken out in the whole of Syria.

Report of Progressive Liberal Fusion

Much Doubt Is Expressed As To Its Possibility

Ottawa.—Statements published in Quebec that 52 Progressive members of parliament, had announced their willingness to join the Liberal party, are received here with reserve. It is generally understood that there were some kind of pourparlers between some Progressives and some Liberals looking to closer co-operation, but it has been stated positively that there was no agreement of any kind or character. It is regarded, as well established, there was no "unconditional union" with the Liberal party.

Winipeg.—"The weather must be pretty hot down there. The whole thing is a dream," said Hon. R. H. Hudson, K.C., member for South-Vincent, interviewed here in connection with the report that he had been instrumental in converting 52 Progressive members in the federal house, to the Liberal party, and that he would enter the cabinet.

John L. Lewis, head of the miners' union, said he had "very reason to believe that an interstate joint conference of the central competitive fields will be arranged within a few days."

Indians operators would meet with miners' representatives in four-state conference if the operators in other states in the central competitive field would enter the conference.

Immediately after being named chairman of the governmental distribution of coal, the Hon. Charles Howard, at the request of the president, asked state governors to set up the necessary organization in each state for insuring equitable distribution and the maintenance of fair prices for coal.

This organization, he said, was to assume responsibility for all distribution within the boundaries of each state except to railways.

An Efficient Root Cellar
(Experimental Farm Note)

A Root Cellar is of no use unless there is means of growing and using the roots. At the Experimental Station at Hothorn turnips have been grown under field condition for eleven years at costs varying from fourteen to forty dollars per acre, depending upon methods of handling. They yield from nine to thirteen tons per acre, depending upon the season. These were fed to sheep, dairy cattle and beef cattle, returned a value of approximately seven dollars per ton.

An efficient Cellar may be constructed by digging a pit nine feet deep and as large as desired, a convenient size being fifteen feet by thirty feet.

Using seven or eight foot posts placed at two foot centres for walls, and held in place by heavy keps or rafters, cover the wall posts outside with poles or rough lumber and fill with earth. Cover the roof with poles or rough lumber and two feet of earth at one end under an entrance with two doors at the bottom and cover the entrance with a porch.

Such a cellar made of poplar logs lasted for four years and kept potatoes without freezing every winter. Poplar however, is not recommended. A similar cellar of cedar posts and spruce lumber treated with creosote built in 1917 does not show any signs of decay after five years. Details of this Root Cellar may be seen in Pamphlet No. 10 "Root and Storage Cellars" recently issued by the Dominion Experimental Farms may be secured upon application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Crop Report

Harvesting of Alberta's 1922 wheat crop has been completed. Output of Rye is practically completed throughout the province. Cutting of Wheat has started at several points and will be general within another week.

Since the publication of the last report, rains which have fallen in many districts have improved the situation with respect to late grains and feed. The northern districts, hitherto lacking in moisture, have been favored with local showers, and a heavy 12-hour rain fell over the weekend, covering several northern districts. These rains will help the late grain to fill, and will also add improve ment to pasture and to feed crops.

The situation in this respect is more encouraging than for some weeks. Showers have been fairly general over all the province during the past week.

While the very warm weather of the past week or two had a tendency to ripen grain before it had properly filled, there is no reason at the present time to reduce estimates of yields made two weeks ago. In fact, late grain is filling better than expected, and yields are likely to show an increase over first estimates.

In the southern areas, Rye cutting is completed, and the yields in this grain are averaging from 15 bushels in the dryer areas to 30 bushels in the more favored sections. The stands of Wheat and Oats in these areas generally speaking, is heavy, and Wheat will not be ready for the mower for another week, save in isolated spots.

In the central and northern areas, the wheat has ripened much faster, and harvesting has been under way for a week. Districts in these areas report conditions much improved over a fortnight ago, and the indication is for a better yield than was at first expected.

The first cutting of alfalfa in the south has been completed, and the yields have averaged about two tons per acre. The second cutting will be ready this week.

The province has been comparatively free from hail this year, damage being reported from only a few scattered localities.

Farm labor for harvest season is commanding $3 a day, and labor for ordinary purposes on the farm is receiving at present, from $50 to $60 a month.

A Concession to Home Investors

In offering to renew the five and a half per cent. Canadian Government Bonds maturing December 1st, at the same rate of interest as is carried by the maturing Bonds, and allowing a bonus of one month's interest, the Minister of Finance is making a material concession to the Canadian investor, as this rate is higher than was paid on the recent Canadian loan in New York. The high class of the security, which is the very best that can be offered in Canada, and the liberal rate of interest should lead to large investment in these Dominion bonds. Attention is directed to the Official Advertisement giving details.

A Letter—That's All

We know, sweet one, the city has its ings:
The dances, the music, lights and laughter wild;
The throngs, the limousines, the play,
And yet you're still our trustin' little child—
It's easy to forget when hearts are gay
But here without you, days are long and gray.

Together, pa and me, we watch the road
Alisterin' for the postman's cherry shout;
Too often, dear, he passes by our gate
And night comes on, the weary lights go out
And so in sadness we again must wait
And always then, the postman's cry is late

'Tis Autumn now, sweet one, the leaves are gold;
The wistful winds disturb the troubled lake;
The flowers are dyin', pitiful to see,
For how we've nursed 'em for our Jarlin's sake—
Thinkin' perhaps, some day she'd come to see
The folks back home — her rose bush, vine and tree

We know, sweet one, the city's voice allures
And, too, that we are growin' old an' bent;
The farm is quiet, dull — the village small,
And yet they speak of love and rest content;
Don't leave your dreams — the crowds, the play, the ball —
A letter's all we ask, our child — that's all. —C.F.S.

MY CANADA

— BY —
ELINOR MARSDEN ELIOT

Published by Special Arrangement with the Author

Whisper,

July 19, 19—

I am back in Winnipeg again, with Mrs. Arnold to mother me, Mr. Arnold to father me, and Mary to keep a constant watch over my manners and morals. The strong-minded and aggressively independent Elmer is rather eager to be here, much as she is reluctant to admit it.

Mrs. Pike and Gypsy brought me to the train yesterday afternoon. Gypsy, I know, was sorry to see me go, and I am tempted to believe that Mrs. Pike was also. We called on Mrs. Jinks for a few minutes; I could not leave Elia without saying goodbye to her and Mr. Hartford.

The train was half an hour late, but that surprised no one. In fact, the "outlet inhabitants" assure me that in the winter the train becomes later each day, until at regular intervals it is on time because exactly twenty-four hours late.

I had scarcely settled myself when a man rose from the opposite end of the coach and came over to where I sat.

"You're Miss Eliot, ain't you?" he asked, raising his hat awkwardly. "My name is Brown, Jerry Brown of Brownsville, Saskatchewan. I used to live hereabout and I've just been home to see Mother. She was at the picnic on Friday, and I seen you with the Fikes and the Winesgates, but never got close enough to get an introduction to you, so I hope you will excuse me speaking now. You know, I'm a little bit of a fellow, but I'm a good fellow, and there's no harm in my saying so."

By this time Jerry Brown of Brownsville was no lot and embarrassed by his collar and tie. I thanked him for his kindly courtesy—not in the least surprised—after falling over my bag and apologizing profusely he threw me into the rack and sat in the other half of my section, and proceeded to while away the weary hours.

News traveled swiftly in the Elia district, apparently for some casual reason that Mr. Brown let out. I think that my life-history in so far as it relates to my stay in Elia is fairly well known to him. He was very frank about his own affairs, told me in the first half-hour that his mother had been left a widow thirty years ago, and that with her she came to Elia. She had come West and taken up a homestead. It did not say very much about the terrible hardships, but he did tell me that last winter he took his mother "back East among her folks and gave her a rattling good time."

Here he chuckled.

"You should have seen Mother at a picture show. I took her to the wild old Wild West one I could find, and I'll bet she died if, though she did pretend to be shocked. What trouble her most was the crowd with red poppies in her hair and red 'chaps.' She wouldn't go to sleep that night until I swore on my honor that there weren't no cowboys round about Brownsville. You know what mothers are like."

"At this interesting point the news-boy came along, crying his wares:—

"Winnipeg Free Press, Tribune, and Telegram. All about the big fire in a shoe factory—five hundred souls killed."

"Where the uppers burned?" asked Mr. Brown.

"The boy grinned appreciatively. "Say, son," queried my escort, "you got anything good to eat?"

"Pastry, popcorn, chewing gum, and cranberry. Regular price twenty-five cents per package, but ten cents each if you buy five."

"Cakes? I'll have some gum," said Mr. Brown. "I've been telling the story of my life to this here young lady, and it's dry work. Then he turned to me. "You know I don't, I suppose."

"Why, no," I replied; "but don't let me keep you from."

So he bought a package of gum for himself and pastry, papers and a magazine for me. Talk about American Yellow Journalism, that magazine was burnt brand!

Mary met me at the station and did not show the surprise she must have felt when I introduced Mr. Brown.

"I'll see you later," that gentleman announced as he picked up his bag. "What did you say your address was?"

I had not said that I so much as had an address, but Mary innocently blurted it out, "214 Collegiate Avenue. Elmer never remembers numbers, so it's lucky that I am here to tell you the right one."

I could have shaken her, but of course she did not know at that time how Mr. Brown had happened to be with me. And when I told her that night in the privacy of my bedroom, she herself fell down on the bed and laughed until I began to think that she was hysterical.

"I cannot see anything so very funny," I objected at last.

"Elmer," she said, when she could speak without laughing, "I should never have suggested you of such a thing!" To think that any well-bred English girl would so openly encourage a misbegotten youth!

"Misbegotten youth!" I retorted. "He is thirty-seven—he told me so, himself."

"Well, young or old, he has hair-money in his eye, or I'm no judge. His good trusting mother and she was so sure that he was safe from all designing creatures."

Cubs That Travel on Their Parents' Back.

"W.H.I., what in the world is that?" cried one of the Brownies pointing to a strange looking beast that was shambling slowly towards the Grakliff Road, towards Stella, the Whishing Fairy, who sat surrounded by her four Brownies.

"How should I know," laughed Stella. "But I soon will, for I am going to find out, and I'll make our fat friend yonder drink from our magic pool so as to grow a bit smaller. He's too big for my liking!"

It seems that the stranger was Mr. Stoth Bear and he had straggled the tremendous distance to the End-of-the-Earth, with a message for Mrs. Bear to the Fairy. He explained that he had left her at home, having a terrible time with three clothy little cubs.

"Those cubs of ours," he exclaimed apologetically, "are rascals. They are always rough and tumbling and running around in different directions until their mother is quite tired out and discouraged. The coddler I even have them to come here herself; so I told her that I would and I could tell you her wish just as well as she could herself. Heaven! I ought to be able to, for I've heard her sigh and grunt often enough and groan about her wish. I know it backwards and forwards by heart!"

"Then tell it to me," laughed Stella.

"She wants to be able to keep those cubs quiet. . . . to make them 'stay put' so to speak."

"That is easily done," the Whishing Fairy said gently. "When you reach home, Mr. Bear, that she must force her cubs to scramble up on her back. If they won't do it, she can spank them soundly until they do. Once on her back (or yours) either, they will be no afraid of falling off they will give all their attention to hanging on. This alone will keep them busy as well as quiet! The Opossum babies do the same thing!"

Now Brownies handed him their heads up! And so did Daddy Bear. He could hardly wait to get home and tell his wife the good news of how her wish had been granted.

But before he left, however, he first talked a lot about himself, so that by the time he was ready to go, those at the End-of-the-Earth knew pretty much all there is to know of Stoth Bears.

Though they really belong to the great Bear family they are even more closely related to the Stoth, who as you know, is the stow-away of animals and delights in looking his strong claws around a branch and hanging down in this strange position.

But Stoth Bears are very agile and active, and do not at all resemble the Sloths in their actions.

They travel around at night prowling here and there for food instead of going forth by day light, and they eat berries and fruit as well as insects.

We especially like the Ants of our country; (which, by the way, is India) Mr. Bear said with a grin and nothing is more fun than digging up an ant hill. The Ants run wildly around and then we just pick them up as fast as we can.

When we tear open the nuptial of a hill, we suck up all the holy ants and eat them, yum! yum! they are delicious.

"When we travel around, we always keep a detector," said the whole family.

"And all," said now, "Judy Bear murmured with a grin of pleasure, more than 'you've granted my wife's wish, you travel with me, easier than ever before; for now we will be able to manage those cubs of ours!'"

"Mary," I replied, with all the dignity I could muster, "if you do not trust my confidence with more respect, I will never tell you another secret!"

This dire threat made her reform a bit. "But this afternoon, when a box of roses came from the north, I was with the compliments of Jerry Brown," she told me that the red apples were in bloom and that she could win it, it only in an emergency that she was much afraid that Brother Jeremiah—that is Mary's name or him, it is only in an emergency that she calls anyone by his or her proper name—will think it necessary to call, and much as I regret to say it, I cannot answer for Mary's good behavior if he does so. Age cannot wither, nor custom stale, her infinite variety devices for the embarrassment of weak humanity."

The Arnolds have other guests at present—A Mrs. Hingham and her five-year-old daughter Sunny. From a ranch near Carbon City, Alberta, Sunny and I fell in love with each other at Elia, and this morning she came into my room before I was up to show me snapshots of her home and her dog and—last but not least—

The Way They Have in China of Returning Manuscript

When the editor of a Chinese journal returns your manuscript because he cannot, or will not, use it, he encloses a little slip which runs as follows:

"We have read your manuscript with infinite delight. Never before have we revealed in such a masterpiece. If we printed it the authorities would ordain us to take it for a model, and henceforth never print anything inferior to it. As it would be impossible to find its equal within 10,000 years, we are compelled, though shaken with sorrow, to return your divine manuscript, and for so doing we beg one million pardons!"

Could Not Eat

Constipation is caused by a torpid condition of the liver. Dosing with salts, castor oil, etc., to move the bowels, cannot afford more than temporary relief.

If you are to rid yourself of this ailment and the scores of annoying symptoms and diseases which come in its wake, it is necessary to get the liver right by such treatment as is suggested in this letter.

Mrs. Alvin Richards, R. R. No. 1, Seely's Bay, Ont., writes:

"For two years I was afflicted with indigestion, and in the morning when I got up my breath was bad. I had no poor appetite, and just felt like eating cereal foods. I used many different medicines as a laxative without benefit, and the doctor's medicine did not help me at all. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and found them better than anything I had ever tried. I can hardly recommend them to any one troubled with constipation or kidney troubles."
